

Counterexample for algorithm that greedily picks meetings with fewest conflicts

- Optimal solution consists of all red meetings. The purple meetings could replace the red ones, but it will not change the size of the optimal solution.
- The green meeting has the fewest number of conflicts, but its choice will result in a schedule with only 3 meetings.